Karragullen Cool Storage (KCS) is Western Australia's largest privately-owned fruit packer and wholesaler of quality fruit and one of the largest private growers in Australia. Supplying Woolworths, Aldi, Canning Wholesale Markets and some of the larger independent retailers with quality fruit for over 40 years.

Airofresh technology was first acquired by us in 2016, for evaluation of air quality enhancement in our cold storage facilities. This included ethylene reduction, fungi, mold elimination, extension of shelf life, with reductions of shrivel, scald and weight loss.

Our satisfaction with the technology is reflected in our continual servicing and acquisition program of Airofresh Intl technology over the last seven (7) years. We have used Airofresh Intl units in our controlled atmosphere (CA) and dynamic controlled atmospheres (DCA) storages.

The cleanliness of the environment is obvious in short time as the usual perfume of fruit in the air diminishes noticeably. This is the technology at work removing airborne contaminants.

We believe the Airofresh Intl technology is an excellent storage necessity that has improved the outcome of our activities as described here. The cleanliness of the storage environment without the addition of chemical additives is quite surprising. This allows us to provide far more effective storage outcomes both in terms of freshness and longevity.

For any storage seeking to provide the best outcomes for clients, including shelf life, product quality and improved storage outcomes. Airofresh Intl technology is a valuable and capable acquisition.
